

What's New?

Progress report Week 3 & 4

As the snow begins to thaw things start to get back to normal. With work continuing at a slow pace I will combine some of the reports.

The engraving machine has now been repaired and passed its PAT test for electrical safety.

Paul makes progress on the brakes for the club loco and the modified bogie is replaced into the loco.

Graham fits a new lamp bracket to the front of the new tram loco.

The work bench in the workshop has been relocated as the floor beneath is rotten.

The bench in its new location

To create more room in the workshop hooks have been erected to hold the ladders.

Shelving has also been erected to help store some of the light and bulky items out of the way.